CASCADIA®

Drive The Future

The New Freightliner Cascadia®

represents a revolution in the trucking industry. With over one million hours of research and development and millions of miles of real-world testing, the new Cascadia is the result of a sustained, concentrated investment in the future of trucking.

The original Freightliner Cascadia is known for performance, reliability and comfort, and the newest iteration is no exception. From its inception, the Freightliner team set out to build a better truck, one that expands Freightliner's approach to lowering customers' Real Cost of Ownership SM (RCO) and placing additional emphasis on the key role of professional truck drivers. As a result, the new Cascadia is safer, more comfortable and more profitable to own.

In the near future: The Freightliner eCascadia (shown here) with 80,000 lb. gross combined weight rating (GCWR) and eM2 with 26,000 lb GVWR are part of the Daimler Trucks' global electrified truck initiative.

Transteck

Training Academy

Transteck has partnered with the Daimler Trucks North America Service Training Academy to provide our technicians with the most up to date and OEM specific training for Freightliner and Detroit Diesel products. Transteck has made a substantial investment having equipped our centralized Hagerstown location, with custom built simulators which mimic real world diagnostics and repair scenarios. This training is led by our two fully certified Daimler Trucks of North America in house Instructors.

We have met the demands of the Daimler Trucks North America Service Training Academy's requirements utilizing "hands on" classroom training. This involves theories of operation, discussion of current and key points. Technicians also use simulators and actual Freightliner trucks to learn how to properly approach and resolve complex problems.

- Our training allows for technicians to become expert certified on the Freightliner Cascadia and the M2 products and Detroit Diesel engine and DT12 transmissions.
- Transteck's training prepares our technicians to be proficient and up to date at all times, which allows current service issues to be repaired promptly and accurately.
- Each training simulator is built with the same factory components used on a Freightliner truck, to ensure that technicians are familiar with the exact setups seen in the service bay.
- Two fully certified Daimler Trucks of North America in house Instructors.
- From full working HVAC systems, to brake adjustments, all functioning components of a truck are covered.
- Technicians are provided with instructor led training, while using "state of the art" training aids and actual Freightliner trucks, which delivers a "real world" learning experience.
